

Museum Essentials: Working Ethically

Victoria Rogers transcript

My name is Victoria Rogers, I am the Museum Manager at Cardiff Museum. The Code of Ethics is really in our DNA as a museum. We have faced a number of significant challenges over the last few years in terms of funding and changes in the building that we are located in.

We really have used the Code of Ethics to guide how we respond to that and certainly the community benefit and community participation and partnerships aspect of that has been absolutely key in how we responded and found a way forward.
