

Museum Essentials: Working with Collections

Caroline Hall transcript

My name is Caroline Hall, I'm the Collections Manager at Blackpool Council. Bravery with collections is about trusting yourself and your team I think, collections management has always been about risk management and it's very easy to get stuck in the same procedure as you know it's safe and new engagement opportunities and new activities come up you have to trust yourself that you'll be able to work with colleagues and find a way. Don't say no say let's discuss it.
