

Museum Essentials: Working with Collections

Emma Chaplin transcript

My name is Emma Chaplin and I'm the Director of the Association of Independent Museums. I think bravery is about having the bravery to take decisions that might be difficult decisions particularly around disposal. And that's something as a sector we need to get a grip on, and they can be hard decisions, but a bit of bravery will help People make the right ones, I think.